

Perspectives – Part 1

Howard Hendricks

I. Questions from the audience

A. A Christian is not a person without problems; he is someone who has the problem solver living within him.

1. Personal example: a pastor who shares his problems with new believers to get them to be open about their own.

B. Nobody becomes spiritual who never decides to be spiritual.

1. Spirituality is the product of a series of choices.
2. It is important to work with objectives with people to show progress.

C. It is extremely important to develop creative ways to serve each other in organizational development.

1. The higher up one is in the organization the less likely he is to be served.
2. Personal example: student who offered professor twenty dollars as a Christmas gift.
3. The Navigators have excelled at serving their leaders.

Application Questions

1. How might one effectively spur his or her disciples on to share their struggles?

2. What reasons should one set out to make objectives in his or her spiritual growth?

3. In light of the speaker's discussion on service, what creative ways might you serve those in leadership? Why is this important?
