Koinonia
Jerry Bridges

I. Introduction.

B. Koinonia means a lot more than Christian social activity. The New English Bible translates “koinonia” as “to share in the common life.”

C. Koinonia is a term that describes true fellowship in the body of Christ and also true fellowship with God. (1 John 1:3; 2 Corinthians 13:14)

1. Fellowship with God is the source from which fellowship among believers springs.

2. The objective of our fellowship with other believers should be enhancing our fellowship with God. (1 John 1:6)

3. We are in union with Christ and gain our acceptance from God based on that union. (1 Corinthians 1:8-9)

II. One of the principle usages of koinonia in the New Testament is “partnership” or “mutual participation.” (1 Corinthians 10:16-17; 2 Corinthians 8:4; Galatians 2:9; Ephesians 1:3-5)

A. We mutually belong to one another. As partners, we share each others’ pain, joy, and hardship. (Romans 12:5, 12, 15, 25-26)

1. We are to care for one another because we are one body. We need to protect each other, not gossip, criticize or condemn about one another’s failures or pain.

2. We share each others’ needs. (Romans 12:13)

3. We are to have peace with each other. (Colossians 3:15)

B. Part of implication of koinonia in the New Testament is that we have a responsibility to share in each others’ material and ministry needs. (Romans 15:26-27; Hebrews 13:16; 2 Corinthians 9:13; Hebrews 10:33-34; Philippians 4:14-17)

C. Koinonia also implies a mutual spiritual sharing with one another. (Acts 2:42; Hebrews 10:24-25)

1. The objective of spiritual sharing is to help each other know God better, to challenge each other, and encourage one another. (Malachi 3:13-16)

2. There is a place for creating an atmosphere of mutual sharing with one another over food, as long as true fellowship actually occurs. (Revelation 3:20)
Application questions:

1. Are you currently materially partnering with any missionaries, ministries, or other believers? How can you make this a habit in your life?
