

Networking for Collegiate Directors

Max Barnett

I. Introduction.

II. Church plant involvement.

A. One of the goals is to get college graduates involved in church plants because they are flexible.

B. This is a way to get a job—find something that you want to be a part of and find a job there.

III. Summer training programs provide great opportunities for college students.

A. Students get a deeper intimacy with God.

B. They gain evangelism skills.

C. If you are going to disciple students, you have to find holes in their schedule.

IV. Different ministries make a place for outside directors to experience what is going on in the ministry.

Application questions:

1. Why might it be helpful to have a college graduate go where he wants to be before finding a job?

2. What is the value of a summer training project?

3. Why do you think it is important for youth ministry workers to fellowship and share ideas?
